Air Raids		Woolahra	YOUR DUTY DURING AN AIR RAID The people of Woolahra can help themselves and save life by carrying out the following advice: - YOUR HEAD. Remember panic-stricken people may do great damage and cause great loss of life. (2) When an air raid warning is given seek shelter if you are outside; if in a building remain there. (3) If driving a vehicle, pull in to the left side of the street and stop. Streets should be kept clear to allow free movement of Ambulance, Fire Brigade and other vehicles connected with the National Emergency Services. If a raid occurs at night, switch off headlights and tail-lights. (4) Obey the instructions of the Warden. (5) Remain indoors until the "all clear" signal is given. (6) Do not attempt to telephone the Ambulance, Fire Brigade, or Hospital during a raid. If any of these services are required the Warden of the Sector will call them.	7 & 9

Bombs	High Explosive		High explosive bombs can do great damage. Even splinters from such bombs can cause serious injury to human beings. If Outside, the safest plan is to lie down with the face towards the earth. Unless a building is hit directly, the public will probably be safer inside than outside.	15
Bombs	Incendiary		These may be used to cause fires. They contain a substance called thermit, which burns very fiercely. It cannot be extinguished by water, in fact, if water is used it may cause an explosion. Further information regarding the correct method of dealing with these bombs will be furnished later.	15

In addition to the appointment of Wardens, special organisations for dealing with damage or casualties caused during Raids have been set up. They are as follows: -

(1) FIRST AID POST: At least three First Aid Posts are being organised to deal with cases requiring attention in the event of a raid. The First-Aid Posts appointed to date are situated at the Public Schools at Double Bay, Rose Bay and Bellevue Hill, and each will be in charge of a Warden-in-Charge, who will be responsible for its organisation. These Posts will deal with all cases not requiring Hospital treatment.

A complete voluntary scheme for your protection has been organised, of which the following is an outline.

NO ONE ENGAGED IN THIS WORK RECEIVES ANY PAYMENT: THEY ARE GIVING THEIR SERVICES VOLUNTARILY FOR YOUR PROTECTION, and we ask that you offer them every assistance to make their efforts successful.

(1) Alderman J.D.L. Gaden has been appointed Chief Warden by the Minister in charge of the National Emergency Services to direct the N.E.S. In the Municipality of Woollahra. (2)
The Chief Warden has subdivided the Municipality into 105 Sectors, and in charge of each he has placed a Warden, who will be responsible for the Wardens' Services in his Sector.

Gas	Mustard	(4) DECONTAMINATION SQUAD: The Council's employees have been specially trained for this service, the duties of which will be to remove mustard or any other gases from roadways and public places if gas is used by raiders. NOSE OR SNEEZING GASES. Cause sneezing, pain in teeth and gums, burning sensation in chest, pains in stomach, intense depression of spirits. Generally recover in 48 hours. No fatal cases known. First Aid. - Rest, fresh air. (Fresh air, best treatment.) Nasal douching with 10 grains (cover threepence), of sodium bicarbonate (baking soda) to one pint of warm water. TEAR GASES. Cause intense weeping. Not really dangerous. These gases frighten people – they imagine they will go blind, but the effects soon pass off. First Aid. - Wash your eyes with a saline, one teaspoonful of common salt to a pint of water. WAR GASES. Gases used for war purposes are classified as follows: - (a) Tear Gases; (b) nose irritant or sneezing gases; lung-irritant gases; (d) blister gases. Note – The respirator or gas mask if worn provides protection against all these gases in vapour form.	7

BLISTER GASES.

Two known kinds: Mustard gas and Lewisite. Mustard gas is more likely to be used than Lewisite. Mustard gas is a yellowish oily liquid which smells like onions, or garlic, or horseradish. It vaporizes at ordinary temperatures, and both liquid and vapor are dangerous, as liquid is absorbed by fats, oils, tar. Rubber, and, in fact, almost everything except highly glazed surfaces and metals. The liquid may give off vapor for periods up to three weeks in cold, damp weather. It attacks the eyes, nose and throat, digestive system and skin.

Gas

LUNG IRRITANTS.

Chlorine or phosgene main lung gases. Chlorine – a greenish yellow gas with a pungent irritating odor. Phosgene smells like musty hay. First Aid. - Do not allow patients to walk on any account. Keep warm. Remove patients on a stretcher. These cases require medical treatment. No artificial respiration.

Gas Proof Rooms		Rooms can be made reasonably proof against gas. Choose a room away from the prevailing wind. All cracks in the floor, walls and ceiling should be puttied up or pasted over with paper. This should be done thoroughly. Fireplaces should be sealed up. Ventilators should be stopped up by pasting them over with several sheets of thick paper. The door should be treated as follows: - A blanket should be fixed by strips of wood on the outside of the door, the fastening being stopped about five feet above the floor level on the side away from the hinges, and the bottom left loose at that corner so that it can be lifted up for people to get through. Twelve inches of blanket should be left trailing on the floor to prevent air getting underneath it. The blanket should be kept wet. A room 12ft long, 12ft wide and 10ft high may be occupied by three or four persons for a period of about ten hours without discomfort – no unnecessary moving about.	15

A complete voluntary scheme for your protection has been organised, of which the following is an outline. NO ONE ENGAGED IN THIS WORK RECEIVES ANY PAYMENT; THEY ARE GIVING THEIR SERVICES VOLUNTARILY FOR YOUR PROTECTION, and we ask that you offer them every assistance to make their efforts successful.

(1) Alderman J.D.L. Gaden has been appointed Chief Warden by the Minister in charge of the National Emergency Services to direct the N.E.S. In the Municipality of Woollahra. (2) The Chief Warden has subdivided the Municipality into 105 Sectors, and in charge of each he has placed a Warden, who will be responsible for the Wardens' Services in his Sector.

National Emergency Service

Woollahra

(3) AMBULANCE SERVICE: In addition to the ordinary Ambulance Service, a supplementary service will be set up. Many truck owners have offered the use of their vehicles for this service, and they will be equipped with stretchers.

National Emergency Service

Woollahra

National Emergency Service	Woollahra	(4) DECONTAMINATION SQUAD: The Council's employees have been specially trained for this service, the duties of which will be to remove mustard or any other gases from roadways and public places if gas is used by raiders. EVERY RESIDENT SHOULD ENROL FOR NATIONAL EMERGENCY SERVICE Enrolment Forms obtainable at . . . COUNCIL CHAMBERS, WOOLLAHRA	7
National Emergency Service		In addition to the appointment of Wardens, special organisations for dealing with damage or casualties caused during Raids have been set up. They are as follows: - (1) FIRST AID POST: At least three First Aid Posts are being organised to deal with cases requiring attention in the event of a raid. The First-Aid Posts appointed to date are situated at the Public Schools at Double Bay, Rose Bay and Bellevue Hill, and each will be in charge of a Warden-in-Charge, who will be responsible for its organisation. These Posts will deal with all cases not requiring Hospital treatment.	3
National Emergency Service	Woollahra	(2) RESCUE AND DEMOLITION PARTIES: These parties will be employed to remove people from damaged buildings, and will be equipped with the necessary tools to carry out their work. If Necessary, they will demolish buildings or walls which are unsafe. 	Respirators or gas masks, if worn, give protection to the eyes, face and breathing passages against most of the gases likely to be used. It is hoped that respirators will be available for purchase in New South Wales if they are required. The respirator consists of a face piece, head harness, a window, and a container. They are made in three sizes, and can be adjusted to fit different types of face. Air passes through the container, which is filled with granulated charcoal. The charcoal absorbs the dangerous gases, and only allows good air to pass into the lungs. The exhaled air passes out through outlet valve.	15
